GREAT PLEA FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Few speakers, unless President Wilson himself or ex-President Taft, could excel in the defense of the League of Nations that was made at the Chautauqua Tuesday evening by Dr. Klein, of the Red-path staff. The big audience listened to his every word, and gave him a round of applause at its conclusion. He argued that the United States is in honor and duty bound to enter the League of Nations, and brought evidence to support his argument that appears incontrovertible. In what other way, he asked, can a plan be suggested that will preserve the peace of the world? The strongest and most partisan critics of the League have offered nothing and the time has arrived when the world must do something to prevent another such horror as the war that has just ended. Space forbids even a resume of the splendid address of Dr. Klein.

Richmond is fairly ringing with praise of the very clever illustrated talk given by Ada Ward Monday evening at the Chautauqua. Her subject was "Getting Together," and her forceful appeal made stronger still, the bond between America and Great Britain.

She is a most interesting speaker, having a charming platform presence and possesses brilliancy of power and scintillating wit that characterizes all her utterances.

Her blackboard sketches were most ingenious and recalled the days "When you and I were young, Maggie." Her portraits of soldiers, doctors and nurses were very dexterous. She closed her lecture with a dramatic entreaty to "carry on," quoting the appealing lines from "In Flanders Field."

"Take up the quarrel with the foe;
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high."

And everyone in the audience with a drop of red blood in their make up, left the tent with a solemn resolution to accept the challenge and not to break faith with those who sleep in Flanders field. The lecture was something to be remembered and treasured.

Dr. D. J. Williams is planning to install a large power plant to furnish light at Boonesboro beach which will be a much appreciated improvement and will add much to the pleasure of the parties which desire to go down in the evening for dances or other recreations. Boonesboro seems more popular this season than ever in its history. Motor parties appear every day from remote sections. The water is fine and all are having a big time.

(By Associated Press)
Paris, July 9—The German national assembly in Weimar has adopted a resolution ratifying the treaty according to advices received here. The resolution reads: "The peace treaty signed June 28th, as well as the protocol annexed, and special agreements on military occupation of the Rhineland, are hereby ratified. The law becomes effective from date of its promulgation."

WILSON'S BUSY DAY

(By Associated Press)
Washington, July 9—Refreshed after his night's rest, the first spent at the White House in four months, the President early today began what promised to be one of the busiest days of his career as chief executive. In addition to a vast amount of routine work which has accumulated during his long stay in Paris, including the signing of a number of important bills, President planned conferences with congressional leaders members of his cabinet, and executive staff. If there is time, the senate foreign relations committee will be received for a conference on the treaty.

President Back At His Desk

Washington, July 9—President Wilson returned to his desk today after an absence of four months at the peace conference to find such a mass of official business that it probably will be two weeks before he can start his tour of the country speaking for the peace treaty and the League of Nations. Plans for his trip are not completed, but it is said at the White House the President will probably so time his schedule as to reach the Pacific coast at the time of the arrival there of the newly created Pacific fleet, which starts from Hampton Roads for San Francisco about the middle of this month.

Senator Stanley of Kentucky, called at the White House shortly after noon but did not see the President. He was informed he might see the President later in the day and was given to understand the President will see other will see other Senators also. It is reported that Wilson is considering receiving democratic leaders at his room in the Capitol.

START DRIVE ON BEER

(By Associated Press)
Pittsburg, July 9—The government's drive against the sale of beer containing two and three-fourths per cent alcohol, was launched today when District Attorney Crawford filed a suit against the Pittsburg Brewing Co., charging violation of war time prohibition law. Eleven company officials named in the information are ordered arrested on bench warrants. United States Marshal Short immediately started a round up of them. Judge Thompson ordered the company to immediately appear in court.

Railroader Killed At Flannagan

John Madden 25 of Brush Creek, was the victim of an unusual accident which cost him his life Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Madden was engaged in track work at Flannagan Station just north of Ford on the L. & N. and was raising the rails with a jack. The lever escaped from his hands, striking him in the back of the head at the base of the brain. He died a few minutes later from concussion of the brain. In addition to his parents, a wife and baby survive.

GRAND OPERA STAR AT CHAUTAUQUA TODAY

Tonight the famous Russian prima donna, Madame Augusta Lenska, will be heard in joint recital with the Great Lakes String Quartet. Madame Lenska is the possessor of an unusually beautiful contralto voice which she uses to the best possible advantage. Madame Lenska since coming to America has mastered the English language quite well and will sing some of the lovely little "heart songs" whose popularity lives on forever.

The Great Lakes Quartet is undoubtedly the finest musical attraction ever heard in Richmond. When one realizes that of all the musicians in the service they were the ones selected to furnish the music for the President and his party on the George Washington, then one can appreciate the treat offered Richmond in their coming here.

Much interest is being displayed by everyone in the big debate on government ownership scheduled for Thursday evening.

The Progressive Shows opened their engagement in Richmond last night under favorable conditions. A large number went to the carnival grounds at the old L. & A. depot, and a jovial spirit prevailed among the crowd. The management has brought with them one of Kroetz's famous $10,000 merry-go-rounds, and the youngsters as well as the grown-ups, rode the ponies until a late hour in the night. The shows and concessions are reported to be clean, and with a continuance of fair weather a record business is expected by the management.

TO TELL MERCHANTS HOW TO STOP TROUBLES

Announcement has been made by the Richmond Chambers of Commerce, that it has completed arrangements with The National Cash Register Company to bring to Richmond an illustrated lecture on retail merchandising. The lecture, together with a three reel feature film, "Troubles of a Merchant, and How to Stop Them," will be given Tuesday night, July 15, at 8:30 o'clock in the Alhambra Theatre. R. H. Kennedy, expert lecturer, will accompany the film.

The retail merchandising lecture, which has been prepared by The National Cash Register Company, is declared to be one of the most comprehensive lectures on the reasons for retail business failures ever prepared, and has been shown before commercial bodies, conventions, and other organizations the country over.

By means of stereoscopic slides, the lecture deals with the value of newspaper advertising to the merchant, tells him how to prepare advertisements, and also explains in detail the best methods of window display, how to solve delivery problems, perfect a store organization, and other interesting ideas.

The feature film, "Troubles of a Merchant, and How to Stop Them," which will be shown for the first time in this city, was prepared by the Esanay Company for The National Cash Register organization at a cost of $30,000. Expert actors were employed for every character, and it is said that every scene contains a lesson for retail merchants and their salespeople.

The film tells the story of Mr. White, a grocer, who was discouraged and disheartened because of his lack of success. The story shows the indifference of his clerks, his bad store systems, his poorly arranged stock, and other causes of his troubles. How he finally rose to success and prosperity through the introduction of modern methods into his store will be shown in the film.

Many ideas of importance to merchants and clerks will be brought out during the lecture. In other communities where it has been shown, it has met with great enthusiasm. It is expected that every business man and clerk in the city will avail himself of the opportunity offered by the lecture, and that a large attendance will result. No charge will be made for admission.

BANKS REFLECT LOCAL PROSPERITY

Richmond's Four Financial Institutions In Fine Shape At End of Year's First 6 Months

Probably never before in their history were Richmond banks more prosperous than right at present. At the close of business June 30th, all of the local banks declared their usual dividends and carried nice sums to surplus, undivided profits or other funds. Reports are now being prepared of their formal conditions under the call of the Comptroller of the Currency, and these reports will show their stockholders and patrons that all are in a very healthy condition.

The Madison National Bank made the unusual record of declaring dividends to a total of 60 per cent during the six months ending June 30th. This was due to a melon cutting which the stockholders enjoyed in February at which time $55,000 of surplus was distributed, in a 55 per cent dividend, the remaining 5 per cent dividend being the semi-annual dividend which is a usual thing with this splendid old institution.

The Southern National Bank declared its usual 3 per cent semi-annual dividend, and reduced its building account from $12,000 to $10,000, a saving to the stockholders of $2,000. Cashier R. M. Rowland has made a big hit since joining local financial circles and has made a lot of warm friends for himself and his bank since coming to Richmond.

The Citizen National Bank has a splendid report in the paper today to show its stockholders and friends. It paid its usual 4 per cent semi-annual dividend and added a large sum to its surplus and undivided profit fund, something that is bound to make every stockholder feel good.

The State Bank and Trust Company, which has several times touched the million-dollar mark in its deposits, had the best six months in its entire history, ending July 1st—and this is saying something. The usual 4 per cent semi-annual dividend was declared, and the sum of $11,000 carried to undivided profits. The State Bank & Trust Company in its trust capacity conducted several farm sales recently, and proved the efficiency of this department, for top prices were secured and everybody pleased as is usually the case when its live bunch of boosting officers and directors get on a job.

WILHELM WANTS TO SAVE HIS REAL ESTATE

Amerongen, July 7.—The former German Emperor has been discussing his financial problems for more than a week with Doctor J. Kriege, who has been in charge of the imperial estates and funds in Germany since the Hohenzollern abdication.

Dr. Kriege, one of the former German functionaries of the German Foreign Office, has been here in conference with Herr Hohenzollern when the latter was not engaged in wood-sawing. The Marshal of the German Emperor's court, Von Gontard, also participated in the discussions.

The former Emperor is not short of money, as he possessed a considerable amount on deposit in Holland before war began. This was added to appreciably while hostilities were in progress. During the few stirring weeks preceding his abdication, William and his followers transferred further large sums in ready cash.

But William is troubled as to the fate of his real estate. He possessed fewer than fifty-five castles, hunting boxes and country seats scattered over the Empire. The revenues of these properties are for the present at least in the hands of the new government, which hitherto has paid from their proceeds all Herr Hohenzollern's bills, forwarded to Berlin for settlement. These accounts have been quite formidable, as the Imperial refugee is called upon to pay for everything he consumed, as well as for his accommodation and the upkeep of his suite, besides paying the wages of the gardeners and domestics of the Bentinck estate who render him services while wood-cutting or in the house-hold.

The expenses of the Dutch guard of gendarmes on duty around the castle also fall on the Hohenzollern purse.

The German government's intentions concerning the former Emperor's private fortune cannot be gleaned here. Germans recently from the Fatherland declare is a great deal of purely personal sympathy for William among all classes and that it is likely he will receive a large portion of the value of what he owned. They say it is probable that most of the castles and country houses will be sold and the cash result paid to William's account, but a number of them may be retained as government property to be used for the purpose of local government headquarters. This they consider an equitable arrangement which will not deprive the ex-monarch of his rights as a private citizen as, they believe, would be the case if his property were confiscated.

LALLEY-LIGHT
THE BALL-BEARING ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT

Lalley-Light furnishes two sources of light and power in the one plant.

The machine itself is one; the storage battery is the other.

Light used direct from the generator is as steady and strong and brilliant as from the battery.

This is an advantage not usually found.

It is due to the fact that the patented Lalley-Light engine is especially designed and built to drive an electric generator.

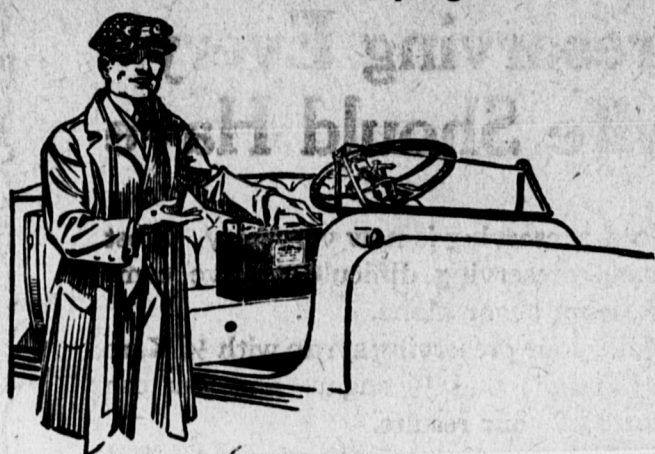

It is worth a great deal to the man who must have light and power that are wholly reliable.

We will demonstrate Lalley-Light, free. Call for the book of owners' testimonials.

GREAT TOBACCO CROP THIS YEAR

Is Forecast By Cincinnati Enquirer On Reports From All Producing Sections.

A tremendous crop of tobacco this year is forecast by the Cincinnati Enquirer's annual tobacco review made public today. The Enquirer investigates carefully conditions all over its tobacco producing sections, and its figures are usually very accurate. What it says will be of interest here, especially in regard to the burley production. Its forecast says in part:

The tobacco crop of the United States will be larger this year than it was in 1918, if the statistics gathered by The Enquirer in every tobacco-producing section of the country are to be regarded as reflecting the actual acreage planted. A crop report at planting time can be taken only as a basis for making estimates of the probable production at harvest time, but The Enquirer's tobacco crop estimates in previous years have invariably been substantiated by the quantities of tobacco disposed of during the following sales' season in the open markets. This year conditions for the most part seem to have been favorable to the setting out of the crop in almost every section, and while apparently there has been little if any effort to materially increase the acreage, growers generally were encouraged by the high prices paid for 1918 crop to prepare more ground than last season. Kentucky, the world's largest single tobacco-growing section, while establishing no new record, seems to have set out its largest crops. North Carolina will run a close second to Kentucky this year with an acreage almost as great. South Carolina reports a large area set to tobacco than in 1918, and Virginia compares favorably with a slight increase. Of the other important producers, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Tennessee seem to have set out a smaller crop than in 1918, with the greatest proportionate shrinkage in the first named.

Statistics carefully compiled by Enquirer from the reports of correspondents in every tobacco-producing county in Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana, and from all the important growing states, indicate a total area set to tobacco in the United States in 1919 of 1,564,704 acres. This is an increase over the acreage reported from the same sources for 1918 of 68,668 acres, of almost 5 per cent.

An estimate of the probable burley yield for 1919, based upon average yields in the different sections, may be made at 278,352,350 pounds, as against a total production reported from the same sources for 1918 of 257,963,950 pounds, making an increase for the current year of 20,388,400 pounds, or 8 per cent. The Government's final estimate of the 1918 burley crop placed the acreage at 280,300, and the production at 269,088,000, both of which figures are exceeded this year.

In the Burley Belt there will unquestionably be a larger crop than last year, though the increase may be comparatively slight. A careful tabulation of the reports received indicates a distribution for the burley belt as follows:

Burley Average
	1919	1918
Kentucky	255,400	238,720
Indiana	10,235	9,640
Ohio	8,368	8,681
West Virginia	15,000	12,000
All others	5,000	3,500

Totals—293,003 271,541
The report by counties on most of the burley district was as follows:

Adair—Plant beds damaged by frost. Conditions at planting good.
Casey—Plant beds were early. Conditions at planting fair.
Clark—Favorable conditions generally.

Clay—Early plant beds, plentiful, good and plants growing fine.
Fayette—Plants were plentiful. Prolonged rains caused a great deal of replanting.

Fleming—Conditions at planting were bad. Increased acreage prepared. Outlook not altogether favorable.

Franklin—Planting conditions were not up to normal. The stand is rather bad, but little complaint is heard.
Garrard—Plants were plentiful and in good condition. Short drought injured early setting.

Grant—Crop set unusually late, but early enough to insure good stand.

Henry—Too much rain at planting time, preventing preparation of ground. Labor scarce. Crop damaged by insects.

Jessamine—Good season. Early stand excellent.

Madison—There will be an increase of 25 per cent in acreage. Season so far extremely favorable.

Mason—Crop promises to be above the average in both quantity and quality.

Mercer—Plants were a little early. Many beds were destroyed by frost, and plants that were set out early were killed by wet weather.

Montgomery—Acreage increased. Transplanting conditions were good. Plants generally in healthy condition. Growers are extremely optimistic.

Owen—Many plants have been destroyed by insects after being set out. Grounds were poorly prepared on account of wet weather, and a bad stand is the result.

Robertson—Conditions at planting good for the most part. Season has been a little late.

Scott—This will be a late crop. Plants were scarce in northern end of county, which is hilly. The outlook is only fair. Acreage increased.
Shelby—Normal planting season, but a little late. Early-set field starting slowly.
Spencer—Early beds were retarded by cold weather. Too much rain destroyed many. General conditions are fair only.

Trimble—Fair conditions at planting. Plant beds were early. Plants are growing fairly well.
